

Tiffany Carmel Dramatic Mezzo Soprano

Mezzo soprano, Tiffany Carmel spends much of her time between Los Angeles and San Diego. From 2005-2007, Ms. Carmel toured Southern California with the San Diego Opera Ensemble where she premiered the role of Evilina in an original production of The Sleeping Beauty. During her years with San Diego Opera, she sang several small roles on the mainstage including the Milliner in Der Rosenkavalier, the second peasant in The Marriage of Figaro, and one of the soloist handmaidens in Turandot. Some other selected highlights throughout Ms. Carmel's career include Suzuki (Madama Butterfly), Flora (La Traviata), La Principessa (Suor Angelica), Mercedes (Carmen), Third Lady (Die Zauberfloete), Nicklausse (Les Contes d'Hoffmann), and the title role in L'Enfant et les Sortileges. Her oratorio credits include Verdi's Requiem, Mendelssohn's Elijah, Beethoven's Missa Solemnis and Mozart's Requiem.

Ms. Carmel has sung as a core chorister in more than fifty productions with San Diego Opera. She has also performed with Long Beach Opera, with the production DoJump! at the renowned Geffen Playhouse, and with Video Games Live at The Greek Theatre. She has also added her vocal talents to a wide variety of programs while touring Japan with the Roger Wagner Chorale, and she co-wrote and performed in an original production called Stages.

At the other end of the musical spectrum, Ms. Carmel sang with Christina Aguilera at the 2004 Grammy Awards for Ms. Aguilera's award winning song Beautiful. A CD of original music composed by Tracy Bartelle and featuring Tiffany has been released internationally through Fable Music (BMI). Her voice can also be heard portraying several characters in the archives of the Spike and Mike Animation Festival.

Ms. Carmel holds a Master of Fine Arts degree in classical vocal performance from California Institute of the Arts (CalArts). She is also the author of the Stelletwal fantasy series currently available through Virtualbookworm Publishing and Amazon.
